DISTRICT ATTORNEY KEVIN STEELE NAMED 2018 "MAN OF THE YEAR" BY THE POLICE CHIEFS ASSOCIATION OF SOUTHEASTERN PENNSYLVANIA

NORRISTOWN, Pa. (March 12, 2018) — The Police Chiefs Association of Southeastern Pennsylvania named Montgomery County District Attorney Kevin R. Steele its 2018 “Man of the Year” at its 84th Assembly on Saturday, March 10, 2018 at the Spring Mill Manor in Ivyland, Pa. The Police Chiefs Association is comprised of chiefs and law enforcement officials from Bucks, Chester, Delaware, Montgomery and Philadelphia counties and has more than 1,000 members.

In introducing Steele and presenting him with the honor, Horsham Township Police Chief William J. Daly, the group’s current president, said, “It’s very easy to do the popular thing. It’s not always easy to do what is not popular but what is right. Kevin always does the right thing.” He went on to say Steele is “a man of leadership, dedication and integrity.”

Steele said the award, coming from the police chiefs, meant a lot to him. “I am humbled by your recognition and deeply moved to be named ‘Man of the Year’ by the Police Chiefs,” said Steele. “It means a great deal coming from all of you—police chiefs who know what it takes to make a difference every day in your communities and in the lives of your residents. Thank you for this honor.”

The Police Chiefs Association of Southeastern Pennsylvania also named FBI Police Training Coordinator Elizabeth K. McCreery its “Woman of the Year.”
