Montgomery County Announces 2018 Campaign Sign Recycling Program

Norristown, PA (Nov. 1, 2018) – Campaign signs have popped up around Montgomery County reminding residents to cast their votes on Nov. 6. After the excitement of Election Day fades, Montgomery County urges its residents to recycle their campaign signs instead of throwing them in the trash.

Recycling campaign signs puts all of the metal, cardboard, and plastic components back into use to make other products. Montgomery County, PA residents may drop off their campaign signs from Nov. 7 to Nov. 13, 2018 at participating locations, listed below, during normal operating hours.

This collection program does not seek to take the campaign sign clean up responsibilities away from the campaigns. Instead, the program hopes to connect candidates and residents with drop off points so that signs can be recycled instead of thrown in the trash. Residents may recycle some of the materials independently; cardboard signs may be recycled in curbside programs and plastic bag type signs may be recycled with plastic grocery bags at local retail drop offs. Cardboard and plastic bag signs will be accepted at yard sign drop off locations along with corrugated plastic signs and metal stands, which are more difficult materials to have recycled.

Between Nov. 7 to Nov. 13, candidates and residents can drop off campaign signs at these participating locations during normal operating hours:
